GERMANS OFFER DOES NOT MOVE FRENCH

Latest Proposals Are Not More Acceptable Than the Earlier Ones

Passive Resistance in Ruhr Must Be Abandoned, Say French, Before Any Negotiations Can Begin

PARIS, June 7.—The German reparations offer, elaborated in the note delivered to the entente allies today, remains entirely unacceptable to France, it was declared in government circles tonight. It makes no appreciable advance over the previous offers, and France cannot even discuss it with Germany, for, as was decided at Brussels yesterday, the passive resistance in the Ruhr must be abandoned before any negotiations can begin.

The note was characterized as unsatisfactory for four main reasons.

First, because it makes no mention of abandoning the passive resistance, which is the first of the Franco-Belgian conditions.

Second, Germany offers no definite sum as the total reparations.

Third, in suggesting an impartial international commission to fix the reparations total, Germany ignores and seeks to violate the Versailles treaty, which created the reparation committee for exactly that purpose. The French see no reason why the reparation commission should be supplanted.

Fourth, the suggestions for guarantees might be open to discussion if Germany proposed their administration by the allies, but if the Germans administer the guarantees the French would expect no satisfactory result.

The French are still unconvinced, they say, when Germany pleads inability to pay. They declare they have seen her living sumptuously and that they know she can meet her obligations.

The question of how the German note is to be answered, it is said in official circles, depends upon the other allies.

France would be glad to join in a collective answer but the terms must agree with the French views.

The Germans were careful not to ignore the reparation commission, and delivered a copy of the note to the commission today as they did when the Makin proposals were made early last month.

DEWART LOSES NOMINATION IN S.W. TORONTO

Charges Were Made That Crooked Work Was Perpetrated at Convention

TORONTO, June 7.—Hartley Dewart, K.C., former leader of the Liberal party in the legislature, was defeated tonight at the Liberal party convention in Southwest Toronto at which he sought re-nomination for seat "A." E. J. Curry, contractor, was chosen. Mr. Dewart has represented Southwest Toronto in the legislature since August, 1916.

There was charged "crooked work had been perpetrated," that Mr. Dewart had not received British fair play.

Mr. Curry was greeted with cries of "you will go down" when he rose to speak and three members connected from five to ten years with the riding association, resigned, declaring that they could not be a party to the "plot" which has been consummated and that they stood solely for Mr. Dewart. An uproar filled the hall which could not be suppressed and which could only be allowed to wear itself out.

Mr. Dewart was not present at the convention being on a speaking tour with Wellington Hay in Northern Ontario.

SASKATOON FLOOD ABATING AND CITY IS OUT OF DANGER

SASKATOON, June 7.—With the South Saskatchewan river losing volume steadily and down over two feet tonight from its flood zenith, all danger of further property damage in Saskatoon was declared over. The flow of debris on the rushing waters, which has been in progress for several days, has apparently ended and the stream is slowing and settling back to its normal level which was exceeded by 18 feet at the height of the flood. Total property loss in Saskatoon has been small.

PROPOSES TO PAY YEARLY TOTAL OF 1,200,000,000 MARKS

BERLIN, June 7—Germany's amendatory reparations note, which was handed to the entente and United States governments this afternoon, proposed a system of annuities estimated to total 1,200,000,000 marks annually, if an international loan is not available for immediate capital payments.

BELGIANS SAY GERMAN NOTE LESS ARROGANT

By Recognizing Obligations It Has Created Better Impression Than Earlier Ones

BRUSSELS, June 7—The German note embodying the latest amended proposals of that country for the settlement of reparations is couched in terms "much less arrogant" than heretofore, in the view of the ministry of foreign affairs. By recognizing the obligation to pay reparations the note has created a much more favorable impression that the previous proposals from Chancellor Cuno, because for the first time in the history of the post-armistice negotiations Germany accepts allied financial control and offers positive guarantees.

But, on the other hand, Germany's insistence that an international economic conference be called to determine the question of reparations as an entity is unacceptable to Belgian circles, as Germany is well aware that abandonment of passive resistence in the Ruhr is the fundamental principle of a basis for negotiations.

Germany's willingness to present all documents and information necessary toward an exact appreciation of her payment capacity and her readiness to accept allied supervision over state finances, meets squarely the most important clause of the Theunis plan, which was presented at the Brussels conference yesterday. This, according to Belgian semi-official information, is regarded as a very considerable step forward.

Brussels on the whole has received the German note in a spirit of conciliation but what seems an insurmountable obstacle to an immediate settlement lies in the omission of German preparedness to abandon passive resistance in the Ruhr.

ASKS ABOUT VOTE FOR H.B. RAILWAY

OTTAWA, June 7. — In connection with the appropriation of $40,000 for maintenance work at the Hudson Bay terminals in the house of commons tonight, Andrew Knox, Progressive, Prince Albert, asked whether the minister of railways would bring down later a vote to put the railway in proper condition.

Hon. G. P. Graham, minister of railways, replied that he had in mind to ask for a vote for this purpose, but when pressed by Thomas Sales, Progressive, Saltcoats, to be more definite, he asked the members to "wait and see."

DELORME TRIAL JUNE 25th

MONTREAL, June 7 — June 25 will probably see the opening of the case against Abbe Adelard Delorme, who will answer a charge of having murdered his half-brother, Raoul Delorme. The general idea, says the Montreal Star, that either acting-Chief Justice Martin or Sir Francis Lemieux is practically sure to hear the case.

DISARMAMENT QUESTION COMES BEFORE LEAGUE NATIONS BOARD

Lord Robert Cecil's Plan Is Considered But No Vote Taken

BRITISH AND FRENCH PLANS MAY COMBINE

Substitute Suggested Partial Agreement Among Smaller Number of States

GENEVA, June 7.—The temporary armament committee of the League of Nations today finished its discussion, without coming to a vote, of Lord Robert Cecil's plan for disarmament and a guarantee pact among the powers.

It was decided to take up the question later, meanwhile asking the opinion of the league's permanent military commission in regard to the French counter-project presented by Colonel Requin.

Lord Robert's project, in the opinion of many of the leading delegates, could not be accepted and a compromise will be necessary in which some of the features of both his plan and that of the French will be incorporated. The principal difference between the two projects is that Lord Robert demands a complete general pact of guarantees, while Colonel Requin proposes arrangements by two or more countries as more likely to result in immediate action in the case of attack.

One of the greatest blows to Cecil's project is the announcement by several of the smaller members of the league that they cannot undertake any such arrangements. One of these is Switzerland.

The league's permanent military commission is also against the Britisher's plan, which it has declared impracticable.

The substitute suggested is a partial agreement among a smaller number of the states providing for immediate mutual aid in the case of menace. The compromise plan being discussed tonight would unite these local agreements with the general understanding and institute provisions for reduction of armaments.

RUNAWAY TROLLEY CAR KILLS ONE AND INJURES THREE MORE

NEW YORK, June 7 — A runaway trolley car killed 12-year-old Margaret McLaughlin and injured three other persons tonight when it dashed to the foot of a hill at 125th street and Amsterdam avenue and crashed into a five storey tenement house.

The car and lower floors of the building were wrecked.

The child was playing in the street when the car struck her. Slippery rails, caused by a heavy rain, were believed to have caused the accident.

The motorman was arrested on a charge of homicide.

ABANDONS FLIVVER FLIGHT

PAULSBORO, N. J., June 7—Georges Barbot, French pilot of the "flivver" aeroplane, has temporarily abandoned his flights in this country. His aeroplane struck a tree yesterday. Neither machine nor pilot were hurt, but curio seekers took enough parts from the machine to render it useless.

ASKS ABOUT BRANCH LINES

OTTAWA, June 7 — A. J. Lewis, Progressive, Swift Current, questioned Hon. G. P. Graham, minister of railways, about the government's branch line construction in the house tonight. Mr. Graham replied that this would be brought down soon.

Attorney General Asked to Stop Sunday Operation Golf Links, Swimming Pool, Bands

Delegation Waited upon Hon. Mr. Brownlee Thursday and Presented Request—Question Is Passed Back to City Council to Take What Action It May See Fit

Protest has been registered by the Edmonton Ministerial association against the action of the city in operating a golf course, swimming pool and conducting band concerts in the parks on Sundays. A delegation of the Ministerial association which waited upon the attorney-general Thursday morning demanded that immediate steps should be taken by the government to put a stop to these amusements on the ground that these public places of amusement had been operated contrary to the regulations of the Lord's Day act.

The attorney-general has given no decision on the matter and has referred the whole question back to the city to deal with as they see fit, and it is expected that the matter will be considered at the next council meeting.

In the past the city council has repeatedly been requested by the Ministerial association and other organizations to discontinue operatnig skating rinks for profit and other amusements on Sundays, but litite or no attention has been given to the matter as most of the members of council were of the opinion that the young people or, as a matter of fact, anyone at all would be better off at a skating rink or on the golf course than elsewhere.

Mayor Duggan is by no means favorable toward the request of the association, and it is not expected that he will recommend to council that the request should be complied with.

The band concerts which are held in the parks on Sundays, it is said, are for the most part approved by the public and do much to make a visit to the parks more pleasant. It was also pointed out by the mayor that a large number of persons who are members of choirs also assist in the musical concerts in the parks and are well paid for their services.

As for the swimming pool and golf course, it is contended that a large number of people would be deprived of the use of these utilities entirely if they were not given an opportunity to make use of them on Sundays, which is the only time in the week when they can get away from their work

Two Million Dollar Buy In Paris by Can. Nat. Rly. Sharply Criticised

Opposition Charges That Sir Henry Thornton Went Beyond His Reasonable Authority in Purchase of Hotel Scribe for Railway Headquarters on the Continent

OTTAWA, June 7.—(Canadian Press).—Opposition charges that Sir Henry Thornton, president of the Canadian National railways, had stepped beyond his reasonable authority in the purchase of the hotel Schribe in Paris, were heard during sharp discussion in the house of commons tonight.

Hon. G. P. Graham, minister of railways, warmly repudiated the charges. "There is not one illegal thing in what the Canadian National board has done," Mr. Graham said.

The matter came up in discussion of a vote of $73,000,000 for the Canadian National railway company, to meet expenditures or indebtedness incurred; operating deficits; acquisition of property; materials and supplies; principal and interest of loans; construction and betterments; co-ordination of railway lines and facilities and guarantee of securities.

Hon Mr. Graham Gives Details

Pressed for details of the purchase, Mr. Graham informed the house that the building had been secured in the name of Mr. Aronivici Canadian National representative on the continent, for $2,000,000, on the understanding that the Canadian National railway, the government or any company could have it providing accommodation were provided for the Canadian National railway. A syndicate had been formed in New York to take it over. No money had been spent by the Canadian National, but a guarantee had been given to the Bank of Toronto for $2,000,000, the bank advancing this sum to the New York syndicate.

Asks For Names of Syndicate

Sir Henry Drayton asked for the names of the syndicate. Mr. Graham declined to give them, taking syndicate would not want their names announced until everything was settled. Mr. Graham added that the syndicate was taking the building over at the cost to Mr. Aronivici—there was no commission.

The Canadian National board had an option on any space they wanted in the building at a fair rental. The board had a right to enter the transaction and Mr. Graham added, "the matter was entered on before the government was consulted at all."

Hon. Hugh Guthrie, Conservative, Wellington South, charged that if it was good practice "to do this sort of thing," President Thornton could ruin the railway.

"The only things that seem to be national in this railway are the name and the deficit," remarked J. S. Woodworth, Labor, Centre Winnipeg, who said parliament must not lose sight of the fact that it was held responsible by the Canadian people for expenditures.

Allowed to Stand

After occupying the house till nearly midnight the appropriation of 073,000,000, was allowed to stand over and the house adjourned after passing a number of minor votes for railways and canals.

Hon. H. H. Stevens, Conservative, Vancouver Centre, asked from what appropriation the $2,000,000 reported to have been paid for the hotel property had been taken.

Put C.N.R. on "Main Street"

Mr. Graham replied that Sir Henry Thornton, having resided in Paris and having been there after his appointment to the Canadian National Railways, had concluded that "the Canadian National should be put on the main street in Paris." The system was practically unknown on the continent, as also was the fact that it was owned by the people of Canada.

Sir Henry Thornton had believed, said Mr. Graham, that the National system should have some place in Paris which would enable it to secure some share of immigration and other traffic from the continent. He had received word that this building could be secured and had made arrangements with a gentleman in Paris to open negotiations through which it would be acquired and the Canadian National would tempor-

MEIGHEN TELLS QUEBEC PEOPLE HE IS FRIENDLY

Asserts That He Has Merited the Racial Calumnies Heaped up Against Him

MONTREAL, June 7 — That if there was one determination in his mind more than another, it was to demonstrate to his Canadian fellow citizens of Quebec that he had not merited the "racial calumnies" heaped against him, was the declaration of Right Hon. Arthur Meighen, Conservative leader, in his address at the inauguration of the Cartier-MacDonald club here tonight.

"I want to demonstrate that I am just as loyal and friendly to those of this province as to any other province in confederation, and that my life will prove me to be just as devoted in the service of the province of Quebec as to that of any other part of Canada" the opposition leader declared.

In regard to the railway problem of Canada he said of the Liberals that "you cannot get one of them to talk private ownership if you stab him from behind." Referring to the tariff and imperial preference he voiced the view that he did not believed in sacrificing Canadian industry to British industry.

He predicted that at the forthcoming imperial conference Premier Mackenzie King and the ministers who would go with him overseas would busy themselves in London seeking to find out what had been done at the imperial conferences of 1921 and 1916 and doing exactly the same.

NEW BRUNSWICK PREMIER HINTS AT REPRISALS

Vernoit, of New Brunswick, tonight, declared that while Canada as yet has taken no action savoring of reprisal in connection with the federal regulations which have barred Canadian fishermen from United States ports, such action may be necessary in the future in justice to all.

Referring to the tariff question, Premier Venoit said that there was no reason why trade barriers should exist between the maritime provinces and New England and added that the two districts should be as one in matters of commerce.

Canadian Pacific Planning Line Into Peace River From B.C. Says Victoria Report

VICTORIA, B.C., June 7.—A well authenticated report says the Canadian Pacific railway is reaching out for further business in central and northern British Columbia. It is understood Major Crysdale of Vancouver will conduct a survey for railroad purposes in the interests of the C.P.R. from Spirit River, Alberta, to the inter-provincial boundary at Pouce Coupe and across to Pine Pass in British Columbia.

It is believed the C.P.R. has eyes on the Pacific Great Eastern, although unwilling to pay much for the property. At the present the P.G.E. has been surveyed north from Prince George through Pine Pass to Pouce Coupe, but the provincial government has no intention of completing the line.

NEAR EASTERN DEADLOCK IS STILL EXISTING

Both Turks and Greeks, However, Are in Favor of Immediate Peace

LAUSANNE, June 7. — There was no sign visible today of a breaking off of the deadlock at the Near Eastern peace conference. The Turks, however, particularly the younger men attached to their delegation, including the proprietors of the Constantinople newspapers, are strongly in favor of an immediate peace, leaving the points in controversy for settlement at a later date.

The Greeks also are showing marked symptoms of nervousness and are urging the most rapid conclusion of peace possible so that the Greek army can be demobilized.

AMENDMENTS ARE MADE TO NEW BANK ACT

Two Proposals by Western Progressive Groups Accepted in Committee

OTTAWA, June 7 — (Canadian Press) — Two amendments to the interest and discount section of the Bank act, proposed by the western Progressive group, were adopted by the commons' banking and commerce committee today.

The first prohibits a bank from making any charge for keeping a customer's account without an agreement with the customer; and the second requires the rate of interest and discount charged by the bank to be stated on the face of the note.

The second amendment was carried over the objection of the secretary of the Canadian Bankers' association. Both amendments were moved by G. G. Coote, of MacLeod, but the first was fathered by E. J. Garland, of Bow River, who produced evidence of a bank charging storage on cancelled cheques.

The amendment of Mr. Coote to abolish the practice of discounting bank loans was rejected, as were the proposals to cut the rates charged by banks for cashing cheques and collecting drafts.

COURT DENIES APPEAL IN MURDER CASE

Fred Covlin of Stettler to Go to Gallows Unless Commutation of Sentence Given

Fred Covlin, a farmer, of Stettler will go to the gallows on June 23rd, unless sentence is commuted by Ottawa in the meantime, for the murder of John Keslenko near Stettler last winter. Judgment was handed down by the appellate court at Calgary yesterday, according to word received here last evening by H. C. Macdonald who conducted the case on behalf of the crown. Covlin was convicted in Stettler before Justice Simmons and sentenced to death. An appeal was argued in Calgary on June 1st and judgment reserved until yesterdy when the appeal was dismissed.

At both hearings, Hugh C. MacDonald of this city appeared for the crown and the defendant was represented by A. E. Popple with H. A. Mackie, as counsel. The defendant refused to secure counsel and Mr. Popple was appointed by the court. The accused, however, declined to give his any assistance.

It is thought that the sentence will be commuted as it is generally believed that the condemned man is insane.

Church Union Committee Presbyterian Church Favor Of Going Ahead at Once

Report of Minority Committee Tabled and Amendment to Union Committee Is Moved by "Moderates"—Debate Continues All Day and Will Go on at Next Session

PORT ARTHUR, Ont., June 7.—(Canadian Press)—Presentation of the report of the church union committee of the Presbyterian church, the tabling of the report from the minority of the union committee, and the moving of an amendment to the union committee's report by the "moderates" featured the opening of the debate on the question of organic union with the Methodist and Congregational churches at this afternoon's session of the Presbyterian General Assembly.

The union committee's report, presented by Rev. Dr. G. C. Pidgeon of Toronto advised the assembly to proceed forthwith to union on the terms of the prepared bills, and asked the assembly to approve of these with certain specified amendments. It also asked the assembly to approve of certain of 150 members to represent the church in the first general assembly of the United church in Canada.

The report was seconded by Colonel G. G. M. Graham, elder, of London, Ont.

Report of Minority

Principal D. J. Fraser, Montreal, presented the report of the minority, which recommended a policy of delay until practical unanimity can be secured. The report claimed that the prepared bills did not embody protection of the rights of the minority, and that the bill had been prepared so that the Presbyterian church went into union as an entity.

The amendment to the union report, moved by Rev. Dr. D. R. Drummond, leader of the moderates, composed of those who believe in union but will sacrifice union rather than divide the church, counselled delay and suggested a conference between those in favor of union and those opposed and further and closer co-operation with the other Christian churches.

In seconding the amendment, Rev. Rev. Dr. W. H. Sedgewick of Hamilton, Ont., said it was necessary to warn the General Assembly that if it was proposed to go through with the recommendations of the union committee, legal proceedings would be started immediately against it, and every effort would be made to prevent the passing of the enabling legislation.

Vote Likely This Week

The debate will be continued tomorrow, no speaker being allowed more than fifteen minutes. It is thought the vote will be taken this week.

The home mission report was presented tonight and there was a series of addresses on the subject, with many references to conditions in the Western provinces, where the liquor question is under discussion, including Manitoba and British Columbia. Principal Smith, of Westminster Hall, Vancouver, spoke of conditions in the Pacific coast province

HEBRIDEANS ARE SUBJECT DEBATE: PROGRESSIVES ARE CRITICAL

Question Is Brought up by Alfred Speakman, Red Deer Member

NO SUFFERING SAYS HON. CHAS. STEWART

None of Party Suffering on Account of Laxity of Government

OTTAWA, June 7. — (Canadian Press.) — Four hundred Scottish immigrants who recently came to Canada from the Hebrides, were the subject of some lively debating in the house of commons today. Alfred Speakman, Progressive, Red Deer, declared that two hundred of the party were camped in a disused building near Red Deer, unable to go on the land or to find work.

Hon. Charles Stewart, acting minister of immigration, admitted that a few of the party were dissatisfied, but emphatically denied that there was any suffering. All the single men were at work on farms and half of the married men were placed, and it was hoped to have them all placed by the first of next month. A difficulty was that they wished to settle in colonies.

"I saw now," warmly added Mr. Stewart, "that not a single member of this party is suffering in consequence of any laxity on the part of the government. They are all comfortably housed and will be housed until such time as they are settled permanently."

Mr Speakman brought up the question on a motion to adjourn the house. Following discussion, the motion was withdrawn.

Word from Red Deer

CALGARY, June 7. —"There are 235 persons at the settlement here tonight," Rev. Father McMillan told the Morning Albertan, speaking over the telephone with regard to the statement in Winnipeg of W. J. Black, deputy minister of immigration, who was stated to have said that half of the Alberta party of Hebrideans are now on their own farms. No definite record of the number that came to Alberta was available last night, but it was in the neighborhood of 250, according to Father McMillan. Father MacDonnell, who is in charge of his party, was at Edmonton last night.

Originally there were 83 men in the party, Father McMillan believed. Twenty-three of these, including several single men, have been placed. Some are working on farms and others are making arrangements to move their families to purchased land. There are 135 children at the settlement and 40 women at the present time, Father McMillan said.

During the last two weeks eight men have been placed, he said.

TWO MILLION DOLLAR BUY IN PARIS BY

Not Secured in Name of C.N.R.

"The building was secured, not in the name of the Canadian National, or the name of the government," Mr. Graham stated, "but in the name of this gentleman, with the understanding, of course, that the Canadian National could have it, the government have it or any other company could have it provided the accommodation would be afforded to the Canadian National Railway for its operations That was done and the building was secured.

"A syndicate had been formed to take it over; agent Leman is leaving New York, I think, on the fifteenth of June, to conclude the details. The Canadian National will thus have a home in one of the best locations in the city of Paris where it will hereafter be on the map without any capital expenditure on the part of the dominion of Canada, or of the Canadian National Railways," Mr. Graham said.

Sir Henry Drayton asked how much money had been expended by the Canadian National in financing the purchase of this property. Mr. Graham replied that no money had been spent but guarantees had been given to a Canadian bank to the extent of $2,000,000 and that bank had loaned a similar amount to the syndicate to purchase the property. As soon as the syndicate took over the property the guarantee would lapse.

Sir Henry asked what collateral had been deposited. Apparently $2,000,000 in cash had been deposited by the railway company and it apparently was not yet determined whether the company or the syndicate kept the property.

Mr. Graham replied that the property would be taken over by the syndicate.

Mr Graham asked if Sir Henry thought the Canadian National directors had done something which they were not empowered to do in the act.

"Absolutely," responded Sir Henry. The whole trouble is that we have to have a smoke screen erected in front of this transaction," he declared. Two millions of money had been taken in order to participate in a land speculation with a syndicate, the name of members of which parliament was not allowed to learn.

Hon. Mr. Stevens thought that the house was justified in assuming that Sir Henry Thornton had undertaken this transaction himself. When criticism was made apparent, it might be inferred that the syndicate had been brought into justify the matter.

Mr Stevens said that in the absence of a proper answer as to the composition of the syndicate, etc., his opinion was that Sir Henry Thornton, as head of the Canadian National railways, had stepped beyond his reasonable authority and orders, in committing Canadian people to an exependiture of $2,000,000 without laying before parliament one word of the agreement made. There was a curtailment of branch lines although they were needed, yet Sir Henry Thornton's idea of his "$50,000 job" was to spend $2,000,000 on a building in Paris and $1,500,000 on building in Toronto.

Mr. Graham said the Canadian National railway, through the government, had got a good purchase in Toronto and he hoped before parliament met again the nation would realize that the Paris bargain was also a good one.

Hon. Mr. Cuthrie held that if a system was growing whereby the president of the Canadian National could withdraw $2,000,000 from the road and transfer it to a bank to be loaned to a New York syndicate, the people of Canada were entitled to know about it. It was a strange thing that this syndicate could not finance the purchase itself. If it was good practice to do this kind of thing, it lay in the power of the president to ruin the railway. He could draw $10,000,000 tomorrow and loan it to a New York syndicate. Two million dollars had been added to the deficit, and also $1,500,000 for a building in Toronto. It was no wonder that the people were becoming discouraged.

Mr Graham replied that what was done had been done by the president after he had been advised by counsel that it was legal.

Robert Forke.

Robert Forke, Progressive leader, said the situation seemed to be that something had got out too early, but if it did not turn out right, the government would be severely blamed. Perhaps the day might come when the Canadian government merchant marine would have to be taken out into deep water and left there; but he believed the Canadian National should some day have a proper line of steamships like the Canadian Pacific railway.

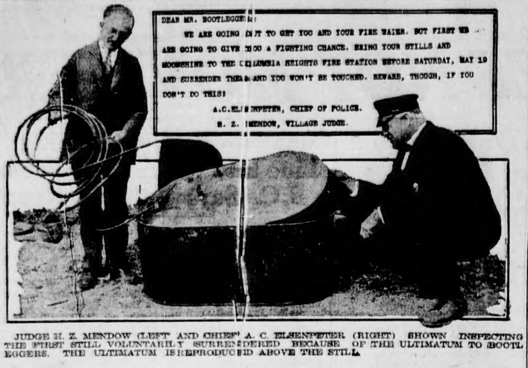
Sir Henry Drayton asked if the Canadian National had taken over the Home Bank as well as the King corner in Toronto.

Mr Graham replied that he believed these rumors were due to paid propaganda to discredit the Canadian National. He had traced some questions asked in the house back to propaganda.

Sir Henry asked whether the deed for Hotel Scribe had been taken.

Mr. Graham replied that it had been taken through the London office; that all had been paid in cash; that the sum was a little less than $2,000,000; but that the Canadian National did not yet own the building.

Ask Bootleggers to Surrender Stills—And By George, Six of Them Do It



DEAR MR. BOOTLEGGER:

WE ARE GOING OUT TO GET YOU AND YOUR FIRE WATER. BUT FIRST WE ARE GOING TO GIVE YOU A FIGHTING CHANCE. BRING YOUR STILLS AND MOONSHINE TO THE COLUMBIA HEIGHTS FIRE STATION BEFORE SATURDAY, MAY 19 AND SURRENDER THEM AND YOU WON'T BE TOUCHED. BEWARE, THOUGH, IF YOU DON'T DO THIS!

A.C.ELSENPETER, CHIEF OF POLICE.

H. Z. MENDOW, VILLAGE JUDGE.

By NEA Service

COLUMBIA HEIGHTS, Minn., June 9.—Judge H. Z. Mendow and Chief of Police A. C. Elsenpeter must be the combined reincarnation of old King Solomon.

Otherwise how could they have teased five honest-to-goodness bootleggers into giving up their stills?

Well, here's the story from the very beginning:

Columbia Heights is just outside of Minneapolis, and in time may be a suburb of that thriving city. Judge Mendow dispenses justice to those Chief Elsenpeter thinks need it. Together they sort of regulate the morals of the village.

"Now, chief," said Mendow one day, "there's getting to be too much of this here bootlegging business around."

The chief squinted, so witnesses say, and said that well, mebbe mabbe—

Chief Suggests

"Let's clean 'em out," the judge suggested.

"Now, judge," came back the chief, "there's a lot of these fellows who might be working in a legitimate trade too. Take So-and-So and What's-His-Name. I suspect them of totin' liquor on the side, but if we pinch 'em what'll the kids and the wives do?"

But the judge didn't waver.

"Why," exclaimed the chief, as a happy thought struck him, "couldn't we ask 'em to bring their outfits and allow 'em to go scot free if they did, but they didn't soak 'em good and hard? Get me?"

The judge got him, thus showing his wisdom in accepting a good suggestion. The two then plastered big signs reading like this:

"Dear Mr. Bootlegger:

"We are going out to get you and your firewater. But first we are going to give you a fighting chance. Bring your stills and moonshine to the Columbia Heights fire station before Saturday, May 19, and surrender them and you won't be touched. Beware, though, if you don't do this! (Signed)

"A. C. ELSENPETER,
"Chief of Police.
"H. Z. MENDOW,
"Village Judge."

It Worked Fine

And the day after the proclamation, or rather ultimatum, went up, two moonshiners called the chief to come to their places and tote away their beverage-producing outfits With the campaign five days under way, six stills had gone into the limbo of history.

Nobody went to jail. No tears were shed. And the village was saved the expense of many trials.

"Great idea," says the judge, slapping the chief on the back.

"Better'n that," agrees the chief, slapping the judge on the back.

by "PRO"

As I understand it, if your ball goes into water that is merely casual, such as any temporary accumulation that might result after a hard rain, that the player has a right to lift the ball and drop it is near as possible to the spot without penalty. If in redropping the ball it should again roll into casual water what about it? Can it again be lifted and dropped and is there any penalty for redropping it into casual water?

There is no penalty for having the ball again roll into casual water after dropping it. Player has a perfect right to again lift the ball and redrop it in order to secure a playable lie.

What was the score made by Jim Barnes when he won the national open and what was his margin of strokes over his nearest rival for the title?

Barnes won the title in 1921 with the fine score of 289, having a margin of nine strokes at the finish.

How many times has Miss Alexa Stirling won the national championship?

Miss Alexa Stirling is thrice national champion. She won such honors in 1916, 1919 and 1920. In 1917 and 1918, because of the war, the event to decide the national champion was not staged. In 1921 Miss Stirling was defeated in the finals by Marional Hollins, 5 and 4.

SCHOOL BOARD TO ISSUE BONDS FOR $150,000

Average School Attendance for May Above Normal—To Purchase Isolation Hospital

The issuing of school debentures amounting to $150,000 to meet the requirements for the next few months was approved by the school board Thursday night, this amount being a portion of the $295,000 approved by the burgesses for the purpose of building three new schools. Tenders will be invited from all of the larger bond houses in Canada.

Permission to issue debentures for $295,000 has been given by the utilities commission providing that the $83,000 of bonds which were repurchased by the board in 1917 are cancelled, according to the report submitted to the board. The bonds which will be issued will bear interest at the rate of 5½ per cent.

Eastwood School Addition.

Expenditure of $27,000 to add nine rooms to the Eastwood school under construction was recommended by Trustee Dr. Crang but was not finally approved owing to the fact that definite figures on costs were not available. The question will be discussed again at the next meeting. It was pointed out that the third story of this school as far as the walls and roof are concerned is being built and it would be economy to put in the walls so that nine additional rooms could be added. While the funds for such an expenditure was not available it was said out by Dr. Crang that the expenditure would no doubt be approved by the burgesses. If the work was done now there would be a considerable saving he contended.

The offer of the city to sell the present site of the isolation hospital to the board for one of the three new schools to be erected was accepted and arrangements were made to get construction under way as soon as possible.

Commissioner Story reported that he had the plans for the three schools well under way and everything would be in shape in time to meet present requirements.

According to the report of superintendent Carpenter the attedance at the public schools during May was 173 less than the preceeding month. The total enrollment for the month was 12,788 which was 724 higher for Calgary for the same month. The average attendance for the month was 11,885 or 92.94 per cent which was above the average.

School Population Grows.

Superintendent Carpenter pointed out that notwithstanding the fact that there was a steady decrease in the adult population of the city the school population had not decreased in a manner different from other years.

Additional activities of the physical training department during the month had been swimming lessons for the non-swimming boys. Classes had been taken to the south side swimming pools and the results had been very successful. A total of 103 boys had been taken to the pool twice and some had been given certificates the requirements for which were that the boy swim across the pool once.

GAS COMPANY IS ALL READY TO START WORK

New President of the Company Is T. A. McCauley of Calgary

The gas company have completed arrangements in connection with the re-organization of the company and everything is in readiness to start construction of the pipe line from the Viking fields immediately, according to A. S. Matheson, local representative of the company. Meetings of the shareholders and bondholders were held in Calgary Tuesday and Wednesday of this week when final details were arranged and the name of the company changed from the Northern Alberta Natural Gas and Development Company to the Northwest Utilities Ltd.

The transfer of the stock from the old Company to the Northwest Utilities Ltd. has been approved by the utilities commission and by the directors and all of the stockholders and shareholders of the company are agreed upon the new policies outlined. Although in the past there has been a considerable difference in opinion as to policy by those connected with the company there was only one dissenting voice at the meeting when the stock was transferred to the new company.

T. A. McCauley New President

The president of the new company is T. A. McCauley while the manager in charge of distribution to the public will be I. G. Payne of Calgary who has been a resident of Alta. for eighteen years and has had a considerable experience in the work. Mr. Payne is at present in Calgary.

E. G. Hill the engineer in charge of construction and who will be general manager of the company for the first year, will arrive in the city Saturday morning and will immediately open offices and get the work under way. Mr. Hill will represent Ford Bacon and Davis the New York firm of engineers who have been given the contract for construction of the pipe line and plant as well as installation throughout the city.

Will Operate a Year

According to present arrangements the engineering company which will have years of experience in this work will operate the plant for one year after it is completed and Mr. Hill during this time will act as general manager. Mr. Hill has been with the firm of Ford Bacon and Davis for some years and is said to be one of the most experienced engineers in this line of work in America.

Mr. Hill will bring with him two engineers who are experienced in construction of gas plants and operation and will act in the capacity of his assistants. All the other men who will be required will be hired locally. Mr. Matheson emphasized the fact that as far as possible every effort will be taken to secure local workmen and materials.

It is predicted by Mr. McCauley in a wire to the mayor that gas will reach Edmonton by October 1st.

A man's affections are never stolen when kept where they belong.

It is all right to hit a fly when he is down.

New Empire

SUMMER SEASON AT EMPIRE

It makes no difference what the weather may be, if the attraction has merit, the public will patronize. This has been successfully proven at the New Empire theatre this week, where record crowds have been the rule at every performance of "The Second Mrs. Tanqueray" which is the vehicle selected by Miss Verna Felton and the Allen Players for the opening of the summer dramatic stock season. And there is no reason why the public should not attend the New Empire in the summer, for the house is fitted with a cooling plant that makes the atmosphere several degrees cooler than the outside air.

"The Second Mrs. Tanqueray," which is from the facile pen of Sir Arthur Pinero, has paved the way to success for many an actress. The story is of a woman, still young, who is about to be married. It becomes noised about that her earlier life was not beyond reproach, and while these rumors reach her intended husband they do not shake his confidence, and the marriage takes place. Incidents in connection with his wife's and daughter's past militate against the happiness of the match. Over the whole hangs a pall of impending tragedy which is eventually brought to a head by the suicide of Mrs. Tanqueray. The play is gripping in the extreme and is replete with interest of the most intense description.

But three more performances of this wonderful drama will be given tonight and Saturday night, and a popular-priced matinee on Saturday afternoon. Starting Monday night and continuing every Monday until further notice, bargain prices will prevail for the first performance of each week. Reservations should be made immediately for the Saturday shows as the "S.R.O." sign is certain to be hung out at both week-end performances.

Pantages

AUGMENTED PAN. PROGRAM

When Grant Pemberton was manager of Pantages theatre in Kansas City he found that the public liked motion pictures with their vaudeville, providing that no additional charge was made. So popular was the innovation that it was not long after his arrival in Edmonton that Mr. Pemberton secured Alex. Pantages permission to adopt the same policy for this city. The addition to moving pictures does not merely mean a comedy or news reel, but a high-class first run feature similar to those playing the first-class picture houses. And it must not be thought that when the picture is added one of the vaudeville acts is dropped to even up expenses. The same vaudeville program will continue to play Edmonton as appears in every theatre on the Pantages circuit, and the picture feature will be thrown in for good measure.

The new policy starts on Monday, June 11 and will continue until further notice. For next week the Pantages has secured "The Woman of Bronze," a stirring drama which marks the return to the screen of Clara Kimball Young for years one of screenland's brightest stars. Miss Young plays the role of a sculptor's wife who attempts to keep the love of her husband despite his affair with a girl who is his model for the central figure in a great victory memorial which he is to submit for a million dollar prize contest.

The augmented program necessitates a change in the hours of starting the matinee and evening performances. In the afternoon the motion picture will be shown at 2:45, followed by the vaudeville at 3:45 while in the evening the picture commences at 8:15 and the vaudeville at 9:15. Reservations can be made in advance for next week's evening shows.

GREAT VAUDEVILLE SHOW

It is safe to say that no matter how far their travels may take them during the course of their vaudeville engagements, the famous Georgia Minstrels will always remember Edmonton, Alta. For the colored artists have scored a notable hit in the capital city of Alberta, and seldom in the history of the local Pantages theatre have such crowds attended every performance. A new house record is in process of being set, testifying to the drawing power of these funmakers, musicians, singers and dancers. A complete performance of 45 minutes duration is given, the scenes, two in number, depicting the Robert E. Lee on the Mississippi River, and a journey to Minstrel Land. Among the clever members of the troupe might be mentioned the interlocutor J. R. Johnson, and the famous trombones, Tommy Harris, Ed. Tolliver, Harry Nay, Al. Coleman, Harry Nay and Manzie Campbell.

The headliners are backed up by the finest kind of a supporting bill, including Jimmy Casson and Fred Klem, in their latest offering of song mirth and mellody. The team is making its first transcontinental tour after a long engagement in Europe, and is repeating its overseas triumphs. LaFrance and Byron are two of vaudeville's cleverest blackface comedians while Nada Borraine, with personality marking her every movement, is the possessor of a wonderful voice that she displays in classical and popular numbers. A manikin cabaret is presented by the two Petrams, who make the little figures do everything but eat.

Always eager to give patrons something new Manager Grant Pemberton announces an added feature, starting Monday and continuing until further notice. The regular six act vaudeville bills will be preceded by first-run moving picture features, showing the best known stars on the screen today. The feature for next week is Clara Kimball Young in "The Woman of Bronze,", marking the return of this popular actress after a too-long absence. The vaudeville acts scored an unqualified hit in Winnipeg and a treat is in store for theatregoers next week.

FREDERIC POOLE, M.D. CELEBRATED TRAVELER

Dr. Poole, lecturer with the Chautauqua is British born, a celebrated traveller and thoroughly understands the subtle and intriguing Easterner. To illustrate his lecture he has one hundred and fifty exquisitely colored views which make this "Epic of the East" very real indeed, showing the troops in action depicting the ancient cities of Arabia and Palestine and that mystery-steeped country in which this campaign was fought.

The first part of the travelogue deals with the advance of the British by way of Gaza on Jerusalem, and shows in realistic fashion the terrible hardships the troops had to endure. The picture of the Holy City and its surroundings are marvellous, beautiful in detail, surpassing in interest and in every way unique.

Historical places from Bethlehem to Golgotha are visited and the Christian civilization is glorified when the Star and Crescent give way before the victorious assault of the Crusaders.

The second half of the lecture deals with the romantic story of Col. Thomas Lawrence, the young Englishman fresh from Oxford, who organized the revolt of the Arabs against the Turks. He welded into an efficient fighting force tribes who had been at war for centuries and and in the face of insuperable difficulties swept the Turks from Arabia. Then joining hands with Allenby in the summer of 1918 he helped in the final annihilation of the Turkish forces in the Near East. The story of this young man's achievements set forth in the glowing language of Dr. Poole forms one of the amazing historic romances of modern times.

FREDERICK POOLE, M. D.

A refined, cultured and travelled Englishman, a graduate in medicine of London, England, an expert on all matters concerning the mystery-steeped East and a lecturer of singular charm and lucidity—this is Frederick Poole, M. D., who will deliver his remarkable and thrilling lecture to Canadian audiences: "With Allenby in Palestine and Lawrence in Arabia." This whole lecture will be exquisitely illustrated with marvellously colored views, and those who have had the privilege of hearing Dr. Poole will know quite a lot concerning that ancient and mysterious country which has filled the newspapers during the past few months.

Empress

A HUMAN STORY

One comes out of the Empress theatre, where the Warner Brothers production, "Heroes of the Street", opened yesterday, feeling pretty well satisfied with oneself and the world—the right sort of feeling that comes from having witnessed the right picture. Of course, if one sets out to seek the reasons for this state of complacency, they are not hard to find: there was Wesley Barry, giving one of the greatest performances of his young boyish life; and there was a picture with an honest-to-goodness genuine love and mystery story that just "got" you, making you rock with laughter when you were least expecting to, and making you feel half ashamed because you felt weepy at the pathos with which the picture is interspersed.

It is a wonderful picture and we advise everybody not to miss seeing Wesley Barry at his best. We gratefully remember his fine acting in "Penrod," "School Days" and "Rags to Riches," but they were nothing like this one. Here his personality shines undimmed as the mischief-loving youngster who suddenly sobers up and devotes some of his days to tracking a gang of dangerous crooks.

"Heroes of the Street" takes the lid off excitement, and sends the thrills up the spine with its plot woven around young Mickey Callahan and his escapades. Mickey is a regular boy whose exciting life is made up of licking the fellows his size and bigger in the neighborhood. Then, suddenly, a tragedy enters his home and after that he is stepping lively in all directions on the trail of a mysterious thug.

Allen

THE TRUE FRIEND

An animal is a truer friend than ma nyhuman beings, in the opinion of Marguerite de la Motte

Miss de la Motte has a prize Airedale. Recently during the filming of the Thomas H. Ince feature, "Scars of Jealousy," in which Miss de la Motte plays a leading role, Lambert Hillyer, the director, ordered the fair screen player into a bog in a night scene in the hills near Culver City. After all precautions had been taken, Miss de la Motte entered the water, and her cries of distress and the weird lights as the cameras were turned proved too much for Freud, the Airedale. He plunged out of the darkness into the swamp, and no less than six property-men secured a drenching trying to capture the animal so that the scenes could be shot.

HON. A. K. MacLEAN MAY GO TO EXCHEQUER COURT

OTTAWA, June 7.—Reports that Hon. A. K. MacLean has been appointed to the vacancy of the exchequer court bench lack official confirmation. The appointment has, however, frequently been rumored of late and the expectation is that it will not be delayed. Mr MacLean, who is chairman of the banking and commerce committee of the house, did not attend today's meeting.

Simple Way to Get Rid of Blackheads

There is one simple, safe, and sure way that never fails to get rid of blackheads, that is to dissolve them. To do this, get two ounces of peroxine powder from any drug store—sprinkle a little on a hot, wet cloth—rub over the blackheads briskly—wash the parts and you will be surprised how the blackheads have disappeared. Big blackheads, little blackheads, no matter where there are, simply dissolve and disappear. Blackheads are simply a mixture of dust and dirt and secretions that form in the pores of the skin. The peroxine powder and the water dissolve the blackheads so they wash right out, leaving the pores free and clean and in their natural condition

For Business and Sport

Finely pleated skirts of flannel are worn with tailored silk blouses for business and sport.

The skirts may be either biege, brown or navy blue if they are plain colors, but many shops are showing printed fabrics, stripes and plaids in carefully harmonious colors as well.

Blouses of the type sketched are most popular. They are made either with long wide sleeves or with regulation tailored cuffs and are sure to be finished with a low waisted tailored belt. Heavy crepe in white or biege is the favorite material although with plain skirts blouses of colored silk prints are worn.

Catholic Women's League Honors Mrs. Kneil, Who Is Leaving for New York

To honor Mrs Robert Kneil, dominion organizer of the Catholic Women's League, who is leaving Edmonton to make her home in New York, a luncheon was given in the banquet room of the Macdonald hotel, Thursday.

A large number of women, representing the Catholic Women's League took the opportunity on this occasion to convey to her their best wishes for success and prosperity in her new home. Mrs P. R. Gaboury, president of the Catholic Women's League, received the guests, presenting Mrs Kneil, on her arrival, with a corsage boquet of roses.

At the close of the luncheon, Mrs Gabory made an impressive address and presented Mrs Kneil with a handsome silk unbrella with her monogram engraved on the handle. Other addresses were given by Mrs J. J. Duggan, Miss Edna Bakewell, president of the Catholic Business Girls' club and Miss Hanahoe. All referred to the wonderful work of Mrs Kneil in the organization. Mrs Kneil, who was very much touched, replied feelingly, expressing the desire that some day she may return. So instead of good-bye, Mrs. Knell hoped it would only mean "au revoir."

Miss Strem who has been a resident of Edmonton for some time, and who is leaving shortly for her home in Vienna, was also a guest of honor and was presented with a gold pencil. Miss Strem in a few well chosen words, thanked the ladies for their kindness.

WEDDINGS

LAUDER—MacKILLOP

All Saints pro-cathedral was the scene of a quiet wedding which was solemnized Wednesday morning at 9:30 o'clock, when Myrtle Marguerite, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. R. H. MacKillop of 107th street, became the bride of Arthur James Gray Lauder, son of Mr. and Mrs. T. Lauder of Edmonton. Rev. Canon E. Pierce Goulding was the officiating clergyman.

The bride was becomingly attired in a navy blue suit, the coat opening over a blouse of cream radium lace. Her hat was of silver gray, trimmed with jade green. She was attended by her sister, Miss Kathrine MacKillop, while the bridegroom was supported by his brother, Louis Lauder.

Until recently, the bride was a popular member of the Alberta Government Telephones staff and among her numerous presents was a beautiful water set and also a tea service from the members of the staff.

Mr. and Mrs. Lauder are spending their honeymoon on a motor trip and on their return will make their home at 10138-87th avenue.

SHORTS

OF TUB SILK

Frocks of tub silk in plain or striped material are very appropriate for summer wear. They are made with patch pockets and narrow belts or sashes and guiltless of trimmings save for a monogram.

METAL CLOTH

Metal cloth frocks are very popular for formal affairs and the smartest of them are absolutely without trimming.

LACE SEASON

More lace is being used this season than has been for several seasons back. Some of the loveliest dresses, wraps and hats are formed entirely of it.

LINEN BLOUSES

Linen blouses of green, yellow and red are seen among the more gorgeous silk models and less durable thin materials. For sport wear they are exceedingly practical.

At the June meeting held on Tuesday afternoon in the church parlor, the ladies' aid entertained the mothers and babies of the congregation Mrs. McMullen presiding. Mrs. Sugden had charge of the devotional exercises, her subject being quite appropriate for mothers and babies. Miss M. Freeze sang a delightful solo, "The Blind Ploughman."

Reports were received from the committees including the calling committee who reported 48 calls made during the month.

One new member was enrolled. The Aid is planning on having a picnic before the summer holidays. The Aid disbanded for July and August. Refreshments were served at the close of the meeting.

A pleasant surprise awaited Mrs. W. L. Lucas (Miss Helen McGregor) on the occasion of her marriage on Wednesday evening, when Mr. F. Barnhouse, city treasuer, on behalf of the staff of the department, with which she has been associated for several years, presented her with a beautiful Crown Derby tea-service and in happy terms expressed appreciation of the bride's connection with staff, voicing the good wishes of all for her future happiness.

Mr. and Mrs. A. B. McGregor, of Abee, who came to town to attend the marriage of their daughter, were the guests of Mr. and Mrs. D. D. Henderson for a few days. The former returned home Thursday. Mrs. McGregor is remaining to visit a short time longer.

Where's the Ideal Wife Who's Happy Too!

Ouida Bergere, Movie Scenario Writer, Says None Exists---Can You Answer Her Charge?

OUIDA BERGERE

A solemn, insinuation indictment faces the woman who believes she is securely happy in married life.

It comes from Ouida Bergere, scenario writer—and married—who from her own observations concludes the woman, who lives only for her husband, who squelches her own individuality, really is happy and content.

Is Miss Gergere right? You wives who think you are happy, would you consent to place yourself in this category of "high-grade morons," as Miss Bergere terms them?

If not, and you disagree with Miss Bergere, what then is it that makes a wife really happy? can you tell from your own married life?

The Bulletin would like to know and through your experience, would like to reveal to others the secret of happiness in marriage. If you have a different theory from the one presented by Miss Bergere in her accompanying interview, write down and send it to the Editor, Bulletin.

It may be a pleasant revelation to Miss Bergere—and others.

By Marian Hale

NEW YORK, June 9—What type of woman makes the happiest wife?

According to Ouida Bergere scenario writer, it is what she terms the "high-grade moron," who simply sells herself to her husband because it is easier than to hang on to her own individuality.

"Without understanding her husbands aims and ambitions, she fosters them by apparently listening attentively while he soliloquises on his importance, his present and his future,' she explains.

"She feeds him well and sees he is properly clothed. She realizes his mental superiority and exaggerates it, looking up to him with something akin to awe.

"Many times you hear people say, 'I wonder what that man saw in her,' when commenting on a man's wife. The fact is he never saw anything but his own reflected image—and he fell for it. Had she manifested any personality of her own he would have been afraid of her."

She Isn't Ideal

This type of wife is not, however, the ideal wife, Miss Bergere says.

The ideal wife understands her husband's business and his temperament. She sympathizes with his ambitions and furthers them.

"But I do not believe husband and wife can work together harmoniously if they have the same purpose and ambition," she confesses.

"For four years I suffered intensely—from jealousy of my own husband."

Miss Bergere's husband is George Fitzmaurice, the motion picture producer and director.

"We worked together, and I worked as hard as he did—fighting to gain my ends and putting my whole soul into our productions. But I got no credit. All went to my husband. This seemed so unfair that I grew despondent, bitter, disagreeable, and began to get wrinkled—worst of all.

Personality Submerged

"Naturally, we came to the parting of the ways. Then I received a chance to go with a competing firm at a large salary. I had to give up my husband or my career. I gave up the latter, and have been happy ever since.

"I shall never be a great director I planned to be, but I am ideally happy helping my husband and submerging my personality in his. I write his scenarios, am consulted on every step and travel with him everywhere. We are soon leaving for Italy to make "'The Eternal City.' I get no credit for what I do, except from my husband. And I've learned by experience I value that more than anything else in the world.

"I don't mean," she concluded, "that a wife should be as floppy as a fish. The stupid, dull, selfish wife is as unhappy as her brilliant sister. Neither do I mean that the moron type is ecstatically happy—she exists with little of the great moments of unforgetable joy and little of the terrible moments of mental anguish. But she's content.

"Of course the moron does not nag her husband into the divorce court or break up his home with her restlessness, but what man really wants such consequences in his life?"

AN INTIMATE STORY OF INNERMOST EMOTIONS REVEALED IN PRIVATE LETTERS
COPYRIGHT 1923 - NEA SERVICE INC

LETTER FROM JOHN ALDEN PRESCOTT TO HIS FRIEND, SYDNEY CARTON

DEAR SYD:

You are a friend. I'll tell the world. I didn't care what you called me after I saw the check. It made quite a substantial payment on my stock. In fact, the dividend was much more than I expected, consequently I was able to give the firm the check for the full amount due from me.

Some way, Syd, I don't seem to realize yet, when I am away from Leslie, that I am married at all. I expect I shouldn't let a fascinating flapper fill my eye when I pass her on the street. I know I would be jealous as the devil of Leslie if I thought she were smiling at any man, young or old.

Habits are stronger than marital ethics, however, and I have a great sympathy for that old fellow who said, "The spirit is willing but the flesh is weak."

Then I am worried, I must own it, Syd, I am terribly worried over Paula Perrier. I don't mind telling you that those letters are rather compromising and lately she has been acting very queerly.

I wonder what Leslie would do if Paula should send them to her. (She laughingly promised to do so the other night if I neglected her.)

Sometimes I am ready to make a clean breast of it to my wife. I really should have done so the other night when Leslie, apropos to something we were talking about, said that she did not think either a husband or wife had any business with the other's past; all one could ask of the other was that the present and future be his or hers in like devotion, loyalty and trust.

I really should have told her then, but that very day that asinine florist had sent his bill to the house instead of my office and on it was the sixteen dollars he had stung me for a basket of flowers. I had sent it to Paula when she had written me a sad little letter, saying she was sick and asking me to call upon her.

It seemed to me at that time that sixteen dollars was very little to pay for the privilege of staying away from her, but the notation that Leslie had put on the bottom of the bill was, "The florist must have made a mistake. I have not received a basket of flowers." This put an entirely different complexion on the fool gift.

You could see, old scout, how much chance I would have had after she had seen that bill, of making Leslie believe that I cared nothing more for Paula now when I told her of the tender passages between us before marriage and she had proof that I was still interested to the value of sixteen dollars.

Good Lord, Syd, I never dreamed that there were so many things that you had to look out for when you got married. A man has to "mind his P' and Q's" even with Leslie, who up to date has not shown any signs of being jealous.

I have a very decided notion, however, that when Mrs. Leslie Prescott decides Mr. John Prescott is paying the slightest personal attention to any other woman, Mr. John Prescott's name will be "Dennis."

Then to cap the climax, I had a letter from mother the other day in which she plaintively asked me for money and lays it all to poor Leslie's extravagance, that I have not sent her any since I married.

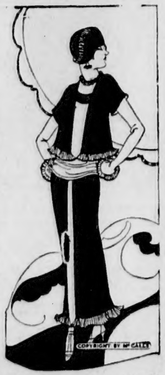
I know that is some of that old maid Bradford's dirty work.

Come on over and advise me, Syd. I am in a devil of a mixup.

JACK.

TOMORROW—Alice Hamilton to her sister, Leslie—A confession about the necklace.

Combination That Stays



Black and white is one of the color combinations that is never out of favor in Paris and here is one of its newest incarnations.

Black crepe is used for the full long skirt and short sleeved bolero jacket. White crepe makes a basqued bodice, long waisted, of course, that has long tight sleeves flaring out over the wrist nearly to the base of the fingers. White crepe, too, makes an underpanel for the front of the skirt.

Similar costumes use organdie in brown and white or linen of two shades to an equally successful effect.

Smothered Chicken.

By Bertha E. Shapleigh
Of Columbia University

Get one young roasting chicken, three to four pounds in weight. Split the chicken and prepare as for boiling. Lay, breast up, in a casserole and spread with three tablespoons of butter which has been creamed with one tablespon of flour, salt, pepper and one teaspoon of paprika.

Pour over this one cup boiling water, cover closely and cook in the oven until tender, that is, about one hour.

Add one cup cream and two cups fresh mushrooms which have been fried in butter for five minutes. Cook 20 minutes.

HEAVY RAINFALL

Edmonton had over three-quarters of an inch of rain yesterday forenoon between 9 and 11 o'clock, according to the meteorological station where the exact registration was .76 of an inch.

Huge Number of Boys Competitors in Tournament

Nearly 8 Hundred Boys In Tourney

C.S.E.T. Athletic Tournament Now Being Conducted Is Largest Ever Held in Alberta—Competitors from 84 Districts Are Participating

Edmonton and Calgary have seen some elaborate athletic and sport meets in their time, not excepting the recent holiday program on May 24. Particularly outstanding are the athletic championship meets under the auspices of the Amateur Athletic Union of Alberta, which attract athletes from every point in the province and it is not unusual to find 100 to 150 taking part in these competitions.

These championship meets are primarily arranged for adult competition, with probably a junior section or two. The impression might be gained that the boys of Alberta do not take part in provincial competitions as do their older brothers, but they do and in greater numbers than their elders ever dreamed of.

Unknown to the majority of people, Alberta is outstanding in the realm of boys' athletics, being the first and only province in the dominion to undertake the handling of a purely provincial athletic tournament. The method adopted is a departure from the ordinary plan of holding athletic meets. Groups compete in their own locality, or in collections of groups at some designated point. The classification of all boys according to age and weight and the application of standard scoring tables for all events insure fair and accurate competition. Thus we find boys from Peace River competing with those near the boundary. Last year 21 towns and cities were represented, with a total of 60 groups entered. The individual competitors exceeded 500.

Dominion-Wide

For years the National Athletic competitions have been handled from Toronto and are intended to include every C.S.E.T. group in the dominion. Alberta competed in this tournament yearly from 1912 to 1920, when it was found that there was not sufficient personal interest to warrant the labor expended. Boys could hardly be expected to take any keen delight in competing against other groups located thousands of miles away in Eastern Canada. Something more tangible in the way of home competition was necessary. Hence the present provincial athletic tournament, authorized by the Older Boys' Parliament of Alberta and put into effect through the Boys' Work Board of Alberta. The plan works in conjunction with a fourfold Canadian Standard Efficiency Tests program and every Trail Ranger camp and Tuxis Square is eligible. The idea received its first trial last year and the results were remarkable. Country districts being given an equal opportunity to compete against city groups, showed up splendidly; in fact, outstripped the cities in point of entries and of winners. The "Robins" Square of Vegreville were champions in the Tuxis section, while the "Agricolas" of Irma led considerably over its nearest competitor in the Trail Ranger section.

In Progress

The tournament for 1923 is now in progress and in its second year there is promise that in the various features the records of last year will be exceeded by far. Here are some figures giving an idea of the magnitude of the tournament. A total of 84 groups of boys entered; total number of individual boy competitors, 771; different towns represented, 30. No single athletic meet ever undertaken in the province has ever had this number of entries, nor has the province been so well represented from standpoint of localities. Here are some of them: Wetaskiwin, Lethbridge, Castor, Delbourne, Ft. Saskatchewan, Lamont, Daysland, Stavely, Red Deer, Olds, Didsbury, Blairmore, Coaldale, Cheadle, Medicine Hat, Camrose Crossfield, Edmonton, Cayley, Trochu, Calgary, Peace River and many others. Thirty different communities, towns and cities are represented.

The tournament opened May 24th and closes June 15th. In this time all groups must complete the program of eight events. These events are: 100 yds. dash; 60-yd. potato race; running high jump; standing broad jump; standing hop, skip and jump; baseball throw for distance; target throw and shot put. The enormous amount of work necessary to convert the various records into points is evident. 500 boys, eight events each, or 4,000 records converted to points must be verified and double checked. Individual and group averages add considerably. A conservative estimate of the number of single accounting operations necessary during a tournament is 16,000. After the tournament championships and records have been made public, all records must be gone over again and according to number of points scored the boys are advised the badges of efficiency they are entitled to.

Although authorized by the Older Boys' Parliament and responsibility placed with the Boys' Work Board of Alberta, the actual carrying out of the entire program rests with volunteer workers. The executive chairman or manager is W. F. Whitelaw of Edmonton, organized the national competition in the city in 1921, put into effect the new tournament idea last year and is again directing the undertaking this year. Mr. Whitelaw manages the affairs of the tournament in his spare time, being elsewhere occupied during regular business hours. Other volunteers, similarly engaged in other walks of life, are employed in checking scores from June 15th until completed. All engaged in performing this service for the boys, even at the sacrifice of their free time, consider the time well spent. The undertaking is immense, the results gratifying.

NATIONAL AND 'QUINS CLASH AT SOUTH SIDE

Saturday's Rugby Feature Is First of Title Playoff Series

The newly laid out rugby ground over at the Southside exhibition grounds is without doubt one of the best playing patches in the city.

The Southside Park is proving a great boon to the citizens on the Southside of the river. Last night there was soccer, rugby and tennis being played and in addition baseballers and cricketers were practicing.

It would be a great benefit to the Northsiders if such a ground could be secured over this side within reasonable distance.

The new rugby ground was used for the first time last night when the Strathcona fifteen played an exhibition game with the Edmonton Junior and came through with a victory, winning by eleven points to nothing. The Edmonton team was somewhat weakened by the absence of several regulars and were forced to play short. Another game will take place on the same ground tomorrow (Saturday) evening starting at 6.30 p.m. when the Harlequin Seniors will tangle with the Canadian Nationals in the first of the championships series to decide who will be styled city champions for this season. The Harlequins are playing a very good brand of rugby right now and the railway boys will have to step fast to finish on the long end of the score.

Thomson, the "Nationals" captain will again appear on the team and with Ficht and Backman—who were also out of the last game owing to sickness—again playing. Both clubs will be represented by strong fifteen.

Other records are also thought to have been broken. Kenny played the 216 holes in 957 strokes while Lundberg had 1,003 strokes. Kenny's average for the day was 39.8 for nine holes, while Lundberg's was 41.7. Kenny had an average of 4.4 strokes a hole.

CLEVELAND'S GOAL GETTERS

CAPTAIN ELIZABETH WAGEMAKER.

Here is the famous captain and forward of the champions of United States, the Favorite Knits of Cleveland, Ohio. She is a finished performer at the cage game, and is well equipped in all the qualities that go to make a bang-up basketball player. Plenty of weight, speed, skill in shooting, and rare ability in combination play are here. Take no chances with this lady on long shots, for she is reputed to be a bear. Many other teams in the States have tried to steal this prize away from the Favorite Knits but without avail. She will supply some of the thrills in the coming world's series.

MISS BEATRICE SCHIER.

She plays center for the Favorite Knits, and is regarded in the States as the best in the business at this position. Reports from London are to the effect that she outplayed the great Lottie Garrett, scoring ten points to Lottie's six. In every department of the hoop game she is a superlative player. Perhaps she has never hooked up with any Connie Smiths. At any rate she will have to display some pretty nifty wares to get the best of Connie. The work of these two centers will be one of the special attractions of the coming world's series.

MISS EVA DACHTLER.

This attractive looking lady is one of the brightest sparklers of Uncle Sam's champs. She plays right forward and is a deadly shot on the basket. In the game at London between the Favorite Knits and the Shamrocks Miss Eva scored 14 points herself. The London audience were spell bound by the class of her playing. She is lightning fast on her feet, and has the poise that comes from playing with a chompion team.

Each of the principals in this contest deposited $10,000 for guaranteeing Dundee the next crack at the crown.

The Dundee-Criqui bout will be held at night.

Grads Are Better Team Than Ever

Have Improved Greatly Since Their Games with the London Shamrocks and Experts Are Confident That They Can Beat Cleveland for World's Championship—Have Perfect Condition

Going great guns, that's what Coach Page's Grads are doing right now. Out at the Arena last night his first string line-up working against the McDougall High school boys, more than held their own in points scored and from the standpoint of condition ran the young men ragged. The Grads are an improved team since their series with London for the Candian championship.

Unless these Cleveland whirlwinds have the speed of super women it is hard to see how the Grads can be beaten for the world's title. There is no use in talking, this whole team is good. It is not a very nice thing to say about such a fine lot of young ladies as the Grads are, but they are tough on that basketball court. They are not afraid to bump into anything fulltilt, dive for that ball like a rugby player and when they get their lily whites on it, the ball is theirs. They are in such good physical condition that they can easily go full speed for the entire length of a game.

Clever Players

This flash Dot Johnson is a race horse and one can't help but marvel at her uncanny skill in finding the basket on shots from all angles. She has a great team mate on the forward line in Winny Martin, who knows how to feed her. Miss Martin has rare judgment in passing and knows when to take a shot herself. She has the faculty of sensing the right play at the right moment. The side stepping of Connie Smith would reflect credit on the best men players in the business. This Connie has the heart of a lioness and Miss Beatrice Schier of the Favorite Knits, will soon find it out.

Captain Eleanor Mountifield displayed some rare form in passing. She certainly plays the game from the shoulders up. If there is an opening to pass, she passes. If the right thing to do at the moment is dribble the ball, then that is the thing that Captain Eleanor senses to do. And every move of this tall and trim cut captain is graceful. Look over the best in any game and you will find a grace and ease of movement. Mary Dunn has lost none of her cunning since the London games. She has the same fleetness of foot, the same aggressive disposition and the same ability to stick with her opponent, which is the chief concern of a guard.

The above players are Mr. Page's first string line-up. He didn't say so, but any one can see he is making no mistake. Nellie Perry is a great forward, but she does not fit into the team play like Winnified Martin. The difference is marked. It is due to the fact that she has not been a frequent attendant at practices this winter. Abbie Scott is another bang-up forward, but she is having some trouble with her arches and in that condition is unable to win a regular berth from two such stars as Dot Johnson and Winifred Martin. Elizabeth Elrick will be used as a spare guard in case anything happens to Mary Dunn or Captain Eleanor and unless a freight train runs over this pair, Miss Elrick will have to view the game from the rail.

HOME LIFE MENACED

Never in the history of the world has the life of the family as a social unit been menaced as it is today. Social unrest, the independence afforded women by opening up almost every profession and every line of industry to them, equal rights with men, all of which are perfectly justified if not abused and women have the health and strength to carry out their inclinations in these matters. But alas, when a woman is almost at the point of breaking from her household cares and social life, to take on outside duties often means the breaking point, and homes are often neglected for lack of strength or some ailment develops because of overwork. Weak and ailing women will do well to remember that Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound made from roots and herbs benefits 98 out of every 100 women who try it, and let it help them.

The funeral of Beryl Louise, wife of R. A. Smith, Annamoe apartments will take place at 2 p.m., Friday, from Andrews Bros.' parlors to Christ Church, where a service will be held by Rev. J. Comyn-Ching, and thence to Edmonton cemetery, where interment will take place.

CHARLES KENNARD.

Charles Kennard died Tuesday at the age of thirty-two years. He leaves to mourn his loss, his wife and one daughter. The funeral service will be held Friday afternoon at two o'clock from Connelly and Armstrong's parlors to the Edmonton cemetery.

The deceased served in France, being wounded while there and was a pensioner. He was 32 years of age. Prior to the war Kennard served with the Territorials in England. He enlisted in Edmonton with the 202nd Battalion in 1916, transferring to the 50th Battalion in France with whom he served two years. Following the close of hostilities he returned to Edmonton where he was a valued member of the G.W.V.A.

WILL NOT NAME NEW DEPUTY TO ATTORNEY NOW

Successor to Browning Will Not Be Made Until Fall Says Brownlee

The appointment of a successor to deputy attorney-general A. G. Browning, who resigns his office July 16th, may not be made until next fall according to a statement by Hon. J. E. Brownlee, attorney-general, Thursday.

Mr. Brownlee said he fully realized that the question of naming another deputy minister of his department was of very great importance and since his return from the east Mr. Browning has reaffirmed his intention of leaving the service of the province next month, he has given the subject considerable thought.

"It will be no easy task to select a successor to Mr. Browning whose departure is a very real loss to the department and province," said Mr. Brownlee. "I am convinced that it would be unwise to act hastily in the matter and there is a probability that no appointment to the position will be made until next September." He admitted that a number of applications from legal men of the province for the deputy attorney generalship have already been filed with him for consideration.

Reports from Calgary state that City Solicitor L. W. Brockington is one of the candidates for the position. Mr. Brownlee said in this respect that he has approached no one in the matter.

Local reports are to the effect that the office may be divided. Tremholm Dickson, solicitor in the department, being in line for the deputyship and R. A. Smith, also a solicitor under Mr. Brownlee, being named official guardian, both these offices now being administered by Mr. Browning. In this connection the attorney-general declined to deny or affirm the rumor.

DRIVE FOR MONEY TO EQUIP CITY PLAYGROUNDS

Arrangements are under way for a drive to raise funds for equipment for city play grounds to be put on the last week of June. Every adult citizen in the city will be canvassed for 25c and the children 10c.

According to present plans it is proposed to provide sufficient playground equipment for the nineteen playgrounds in the city. This will mean that there will be one playground for every comunity league. The leagues have already secured the property from the city for a term of years and it is anticipated that the grounds will be in chape this summer.

GOOD ENOUGH REASON

Probably the main reason why Premier Greenfield and Premier Dunning will not say anything about the prospect of setting up the wheat board is that they have nothing to say.

WINNERS IMPLY LOSERS

London despatches tell of quite a number of people who won fortunes betting on the Derby. They do not of course tell of the thousands who lost that these might win. Betting is a game of chance. For every winner there must be a loser. For every winner of large stakes there must be a multitude who are out of pocket. The good fortune of the individual is balanced by the losses of the many. Like speculation, betting redistributes money, but it does not add a penny to the sum total of the world's wealth. The evil in it is that it teaches people to try to get something for nothing. From the size of the stakes there must be a pretty large proportion of the population of the old lands who would rather take money from other people than earn it and save it—the usual per centage of whom get fleeced.

RESTORING THE RESERVE

Every day, or every three days or so at least, it gets harder and harder to believe that two weeks ago everybody was wondering when it would start to rain and what would happen if it didn't. There is nothing indecisive about the weather in this favored country. When it gets hot Florida has to look to its records, when it turns cold there isn't room for any doubt about it, when a dry spell sets in it lasts long enough to be noticeable, and when a wet season comes one may just as well run the flivver in the stable and hunt up his gum boots. Whatever the weather does it does aplenty. Just at present it is recharging the ground with the reserve moisture that was sucked out of it by the crops and the sun during the last three years, and is going about the job in the usual business-like fashion.

A SUGAR STRIKE?

The United Farm Women of Manitoba are to boycott sugar—to the extent of limiting the amount they put in the rhubarb pies and allow the youngsters to spread on their porridge. If people generally will go on rations voluntarily the present excessive price of this commodity will come down to some more reasonable figure. There is a shortage in the world supply, not great but large enough to give the sugar baron an opportunity to hold up the consumer. He is doing it apparently, as cheerfully as he did when war conditions presented him with the same advantage. The housewives of the land can do a good deal to frustrate his designs upon the family purse, by following the lead of the Manitoba farm women. The war taught us that people can get along without sugar, or with very little of it. But the sugar profiteer cannot get along without a keen public demand for his wares. In proportion as that demand weakens the price will have to come down. Very largely it rests with the public whether and to what extent they are swindled.

VICTIMS OF SUMMER

From the great lakes to the Atlantic the people of the eastern States have been sweltering in a killing heat, broken here and there by thunder and lightning storms which killed more people and destroyed considerable property. Ontario and the eastern provinces are doubtless getting much the same order of things. Westerners are inclined to envy their eastern friends who enjoy the pleasures and advantages of summer in a "fruit belt." The press despatches from the New England centres may help to remind them that distance lends enchantment and obscures the view of some less desirable facts. Summer in the eastern provinces and the neighboring states is a season of oppressive heat and still more oppressive humidity, conditions which are trying on any constitution and which every year produce a long list of fatalities and prostrations. In these higher levels one can at least get a real night's sleep. Millions of people in the lower altitudes would pay money for that incalculable blessing just now, but their money can't buy it.

BRITAIN AND FRANCE

The French and Belgian premiers held a conference in Brussels on Wednesday, when they reaffirmed their intention to hold the Ruhr district until Germany pays, or makes a beginning at payment. It is claimed, however, that they said it in a more conciliatory tone than on previous occasions, and that M. Poincare declared the willingness of France to give frank attention to any plan which Berlin may have to offer. Also that an effort was made to formulate a line of policy with which Britain and Italy would agree. This will likely be construed by anti-French propagandists in England as a sign that the two aggressive allies are weakening on the occupation policy and looking for an opportunity to back out of the Ruhr. That they are tired of the business is likely enough. Playing international bailiff is not a particularly pleasant role in that area, especially as little or nothing has yet come of it in the way of cash or kind. But that France and Belgium have any notion of giving up the attempt to collect is not at all in evidence. They not only want the reparations money, but need it desperately, and the increasing pressure they have been applying of late does not suggest a backing-out or backing down. To do that now would be fatal to the chances of collecting anything. So far from wanting them to abandon the Ruhr, the other allies could hardly afford to let that occur. If they did, Germany would draw the conclusion—not without reason—that it could not be made to pay and therefore would not try to pay.

While France and Belgium seized the Ruhr district without British help or approval, once they had done so the continuance of the occupation became a matter in whch the interests of all the allied countries are involved. Germany owes all of them. If France and Belgium had to give up trying to collect, the prospect of any of the allies getting anything from Berlin would be too remote to be bothered about. It would be almost as well to write off the whole reparations account at once as to have France and Belgium admit defeat now and withdraw from the occupied zone without getting what they went after. Germany does not intend to pay unless it has to. The French and Belgian governments undertook to show it that it has to. If they gave up that undertaking as hopeless, the outlook for remittances from Berlin to any allied capital would be poorer than before the occupation, and it was bad enough then. What the tone of the Brussels conference doubtless means is that France and Belgium would welcome help from Britain in bringing pressure to bear upon Germany, and that they are ready to make any concession to that end which does not involve a right-about. There is a new premier in Britain, who has been said to hold rather stronger views on the question of collecting from Germany than Mr. Bonar Law did. That fact no doubt had something to do with the bid made by the French and Belgian premiers for British co-operation. It likely had something also to do with the fact that Germany has prepared and presented a plan for dealing with the whole reparations question. Hitherto Berlin has not seemed to be concerned in that matter save in a casual way. It would be somewhat of a shock to Tory England if Premier Baldwin should line up with the French and Belgian governments on the principle that Germany will have to pay, and start now.

Current Comment

THE SAME OLD GOLD BRICK.

Winnipeg Tribune.

Why Messrs. Dunning and Greenfield are keeping up a pretense that the wheat board will still come into operation is a mystery. They surely cannot expect to fool the farmers a second time with the same old gold-brick, not even re-plated. To get away with the trick once was rather clever, but to try it again indicates a low opinion of the farmers' intelligence.

They are of course doing no great harm to anyone by playing out the farce to the end, so long as it is brought to a final curtain within the next two or three weeks. Longer delay would again endanger the successful marketing of the coming crop. But what they hope to gain by pretending great activity in the direction of establishing the board is hard to understand. The statement they will eventually make public could be written as well today as a month from now. For that matter, it could have been written a month ago.

NOT LOW ENOUGH.

Toronto Star.

The suggested price of $9 per ton for carrying Alberta coal to Toronto does not appear to be low enough to enable the Ontario fuel problem to be solved. When the cost of the coal at the mine and the cost of handling and delivering at this end are added, the price per ton to the consumer would not give western coal a fair chance in competition with anthracite.

Many persons who have had some experience in the matter of freight costs have offered the opinion that the railways could, by naming their own time and by moving entire train loads, do a good deal better than $9 per ton—as low as $6—and still make a certain profit from the business, although perhaps not the operating profit regularly looked for. But it would be new business and serving to foster a national industry, which would have indirect advantages to the transportation services.

When a carload of cattle is shipped from Alberta to Toronto the cattleman pays $300 for the service, and feels he is paying too much. The Thornton offer of a freight rate of $9 per ton would mean that on a carload of fifty tons the freight would be $450. This would not be a heavy car of coal, but the average weight for coal as it arrives in Toronto. Pennsylvania coal comes in cars of all sizes, with capacity varying from thirty to seventy tons, but with fifty as about the average.

A WESTERN NATIONAL POLICY.

Vancouver Sun.

Shortsightedness is not all confined to the east. British Columbia and the prairie provinces have more in common than they have ever realized; yet they stand almost as far apart in sympathy as the prairies and the east. This province cannot plead entirely innocent when accused by the prairie press of aiding the east in exploitation. We nave long insisted that our brothers on the plains be tightly fenced by a tariff wall so that we can sell them our lumber, apples, and other produce.

Whether our policy has been right or wrong can only be judged from the results obtained. Certainly our fruit growing industry does not bear witness to any great degree of prosperity derievd through the protective tariff; the benefits, if any at all, have gone to others than producers and prairie farmers have become so antagonized by the high prices they have had to pay that their consumption of our produce has been kept down to a minimum.

Why the lumbering industry should require protection by tariff is a mystery unless it be to aid in semi-robbery for far from being in danger of American lumber, our mills are all cutting to capacity for export to points in the United States.

British Columbia, although a part of the west, has acted in the past more like the east than it is pleasant to recall; we have been selfish and narrow and it will probably take us many years to get out of the rut of narrowness. The prosperity of this province hinges largely upon the prosperity of the whole west; we cannot detach ourselves from it. A western policy is necessary and it should be based on a confession of past error. If western Canada is to prosper it must stand united in sympathy and in economic policy.

RE-ENFORCEMENTS

A Message From Foch

In the course of the Senate debate on a motion of enquiry regarding the work of the League of Nations, proposed by the Hon. Sir George E. Foster, Senator Griesbach spoke on March 21st, and whole-heartedly endorsed the policy of France, which had been the subject of criticism by Sir George Foster. He gave instances from his own military experience of the German attitude towards France. At one point he spoke as follows: "I have never met a reputable fighting soldier whose sympathy has not been wholly and entirely with France. It may be that there are some whose sympathy is not with France, but I have never met them. My own opinion is that everywhere in this empire the men who fought with France during the war are with France now in her struggles to enforce her rights."

General Griesbach concluded:—

"With regard to this amount of 32 billions which Germany by treaty is required to pay, and which my right honorable friend the other day said she could not pay, let me suggest two thoughts to the house. First of all, you must get used to big amounts in a discussion of this sort. Who would have thought in 1913 that Canada would raise 590,000 men, and expend in the war $2,000,000,000, and export from Canada $1,000,000,000 worth of war materials? Who would have thought that? Who would have thought that Great Britain herself would spend $25,000,000 a day for four years in the prosecution of the war? Again I say we must get used to big amounts.

"People say that Germany cannot pay, and that the amount is too large. What they mean to say is this, that Germany cannot pay by means of the ordinary methods of taxation and finance. But this is an extraordinary case; this is not an ordinary case at all. Germany can pay, and Germany must be made to pay, and Germany must pay if her people sweat blood for the next fifty years in order to pay. That should be the attitude on approaching this question. The fact is that if she does not pay, then our friend and ally, France, must sweat blood for the next fifty years. That is the alternative before them.

"My other friend the other day professed to think—and there is a large school of thought officially of that opinion—that there are grave doubts as to whether Great Britain could pay the United States the $4,600,000,000 which she owes, the payment of which has been spread over a period of sixty-two years, or, as my right honorable friend pointed out, two generations. He expressed great doubt as to whether Great Britain can pay that, and he argues from this that Germany will find it impossible to pay $32,000,000,000. Well, let me say to my right honorable friend and to those who think as he does: Be of good cheer; lift up your hearts. If you seek for encouragement, for hope, or for inspiration in this matter, turn to France—who not in 62 years, not in two generations, but in three years, has from her own people and her own resources secured and paid, to make good the devastations wrought by Germany in France, not $4,600,000,000, but $7,500,000,000. France fights for her life in this matter, for her right to live and to survive. Unless those reparations are paid, the burden of this war will rest on France, who helped to win the war, and who was the aggrieved party from the beginning.

"Fear that the Germans will come again must be removed if there is to be peace in Europe. You cannot have peace with nations in fear. Fear makes war. Remove fear, and you ensure peace. The French are our friends and allies. They are linked to us by ties of honor and of interest, and they are linked by ties of kinship to half the people of this country. They stand and they have stood between civilization and Bolshevism. By their unparalleled sacrifices and extraordinary exertions in the late war they have won our sympathy and our respect, and they are entitled to our loyalty. France today is still the France of Verdun and the Marne. Our dead and theirs sleep side by side. Seven hundred thousand white crosses mutely declare to all the world our unselfish devotion to their cause, which was ours. Ours is the friendship of a thousand undying memories of the tragedies and glories of the past.

"France today fights for her life. Confident in the righteousness and justice of her cause, she moves steadily forward. She has counted the cost; she has made her plans; she will succeed—she cannot help but succeed.

"In August of 1918 I had the somewhat unique privilege, as a Canadian officer, to command French troops. A secret relief was taking place, and as my battalions went out French battalions came in, and finally I found myself in command of six French battalions, with artillery and auxiliary services. My subordinate French commanders were aggressive, on the offensive, and the battle continuously raged. It no sooner died out at one place than it broke out in another. Frequently at night I would be awakened by the roar of the French artillery and the rattle of their machine guns, and the night sky would be illuminated by the flashes of the guns and the flares and signal rockets, and I would apprehensively, and nervously, perhaps, call out in soldier French to the French sentry who stood at the door of my shelter: 'Planton!' 'Mon General.' 'Est-ce tranquil sur la ligne?' And my sentry would go up on the parapet, look over the top, survey the situation and make report: 'Tres tranquil, mon General.' His answer was always the same, no matter how the battle raged. To him it was always 'quiet on the line.' I can recall him as he stood at the door of my shelter in his horizon blue, and steel helmet, with his long rifle and bayonet—very alert, very erect and very serene—typical of the courage, the energy, the determination and the efficiency of his race. And I am wondering how it is with France. A great war is on again, and a great moral battle rages and great political guns are booming, with one eye on Europe and the other on the situation affecting their own political lives in the countries in which they live. An ill-informed press, quibbling lawyers, so-called experts in finance and economics, pacifists, defeatists, socialists and communists have all joined their simian chatter to the general chorus. I am wondering how it is with France in this time of doubt and perplexity. Are her people torn by party strife? Are her public men divided? Has her incomparable army lost its old-time power? Is her morale endangered? And somehow there comes to me across the leagues that lie between, the answer of this gallant and sorely tried people, and the answer is in the tone and in the language of my French sentry on the plains of Amiens, serenely and proudly confident: 'Tres tranquil, mon General.'"

A copy of the Senate Hansard containing General Griesbach's speech was forwarded to Gen. Foch. The following acknowledgment was received by General Griesbach:—

"Paris, 18th April, 1923.

"My Dear General—

"I thank you for having thought of sending me the text of your beautiful speech, delivered in the Canadian Senate. The facts you mentioned have certainly not failed to have a happy influence in establishing clearly the good right of France in her present action. Those who, like yourself, have seen the devastations caused by the enemy on French territory, feel that they must be repaid by those who have committed them and that France must be protected in the future from another invasion. Thank you and thank you again, my dear general, and believe in my best sentiments.

"(Sgd.) F. FOCH."

See What's Coming Your Way

A CAMPAIGN has been started to shift the rural pedestrian from the traditional right side of the road to the left. This will enable him to see approaching traffic and avoid danger.

It's always wise to know what's coming your way.

Every day the advertisements in this paper bring good things your way. Bargains that will save your money. New products that other people have developed for your personal comfort and convenience. Information about every article of human need, whether it is food or clothng, an article of household utility, a necessity or a luxury.

Do you heed the advertisements? Or do you go blithely along, letting them come up from behind and slip past you unnoticed?

It is interesting, instructing and profitable to watch for the good things the advertisements bring your way.

Look for them every day

Oh, girls! Bet yiu can't kick as high as Chloris Christner kicks. In Prof. Burt McNurtrie's kicking contest in Pittsburg, she kicked over all other kicking records. And she won first prize in a beauty contest, too!

PRIZE LISTS FOR FAIR NOW READY

The prize lists for the Edmonton exhibition (which will be held July 16-21) are being finished by the printers and the exhibition staff expect to commence mailing them on Monday next.

Applications for space in the manufacturers' building have been received and the committee in charge of merchants' and manufacturers' exhibits will meet on Friday to go over the allotments; applications now in hand cover practically all the space in this popular building.

The buildings and grounds committee on Monday last inspected the grounds and buildings and found that the action of the elements during the winter, coupled with the activities of small boys, are responsible for the breaking of 367 panes of glass in the various barns. The manufacturers' building windows, which were protected last year with wire, have escaped the usual damage this year. Other repairs will be covered fully in the report of the committee, which will be presented to the directors next Wednesday.

TWENTY PEOPLE FROM SASKATCHEWAN ARE SEEKING LAND HERE

Something in the nature of a rush was staged at the Dominion lands office here on Thursday morning when 20 prospective settlers from Saskatchewan were supplied with information relative to settling in the north.

The party hail from the western section of the province to the east where due to dry conditions dissatisfaction has been felt; they are seeking new homes in the Edson district and the land officials feel assured that they will be able to find what they require in the country to the west.

The state of Vermont received its name from "verb mont," meaning Green Mountain.

CHURCH GETS GRANT.

VANCOUVER June 6. — The Anglican church at Alameda, Sas., benefits under the will of George H. Knowling to the extent of $300 and the town will receive $250. The man who made these bequests, however, cannot be found and his brother today applied in court for custody of the missing man's $45,000 estate. Knowling, who was 69 years old, came here in 1905 from Alameda. He was a bachelor of quiet habits. On June 26 last his brother deposes, he suddenly left the house without hat or coat. Bloodhounds employed to trace him went straight to the shore of Burrard inlet. The estate will be administered for the time being.

Grain Markets

WINNIPEG, June 7 — The local wheat market was less active today and after recording early advances prices eased off, closing 1-4 higher for July and 1 lower for October. There was some buying by export interests, but the trade volume was not as large as on Wednesday. Around 1.15 there appears to be good buying power, but beyond this interest is lacking.

Trading in coarse grains was not particularly active, but the firm undertone continued. Oats and rye were fractionally lower, but barley closed 1-4 cent higher for July and 3-8 of a cent up for October. Trade was not heavy but values were strong on the flax market, July closing 3 cents higher.

There was an excellent trade in cash wheat at spreads 1-8 cent to 1-4 cent better, but light stocks reduced the volume somewhat. Exporters were the buyers. Elevator interests, who are holding wheat back in the country on a July basis, have commenced to ship it forward. Very little business was reported in cash coarse grains.

Inspections totalled 242 cars of which 192 were wheat.

Several Specialties During Day Showed Gains of One to Five Points

NEW YORK, June 7 — Prices in today's stock market yielded moderately to profit-taking and short selling, which was most effective in certain of the steel, equipment, oil, and motor shares. While the reactionary tendency extended to most of the usual leaders, there were several specialties which showed net gains of from one to nearly five points on the day. Business was again on a considerably reduced scale owing to the absence of any effective public participation.

New lows for the year were established during the session by American Express, International Harvester, Standard Oil of New Jersey and Virginia Carolina preferred. Railroad shares enjoyed a brief period of strength. Just before the close there was a good demand for some of the low-priced carriers, Pere Marquette establishing a new high for the year at 45 3-8.

Record breaking crude oil production continued to have a depressing effect on the oil shares although with the exception of Royal Dutch, off 1 1-2 today's recessions were held in fractions. Houston Oil moved against the current trend, rising 2 points.

Twin City Rapid transit issues showed big gains on the announcement of an increased semi-annual dividend.

Total sales 613,200 shares.

CREAM, BUTTER AND CHEESE MARKETS

Receipts of cream have been picking up fast, since the rains brought on the grass so amazingly. Judging from the receipts of last year when the pastures were dry, butter dealers are looking forward to a 20,000,000 pound make in this province this year. This would be an increase of 5,000,000 pounds over last year.

Owing to the late pastures, the receipts of cream to date have been below last year, but now they are level with last year, week for week and it is expected that before the second week in July they will have exceeded last year and that with the reserve of moisture in the ground, the pastures will keep green much longer. These rains have practically insured good feed for the balance of the season.

Cream prices were quoted Wednesday at 31c for specials, 29c for No. 1 and 26c for No. 2 f.o.b. Edmonton, and 2c less at country creameries.

Butter.

Butter prices are holding steady and practically no change is recorded in Alberta although the Eastern market has become firmer. The last Montreal board reported specials pasteurized at 34c. No. 1 pasteurized at 33½c and No. 1 unpasteurized at 33c. The cost for landing the butter in Montreal from here is 3½c. The Saskatchewan and Manitoba markets are slightly firmer also due to the Eastern advances. Quotations from the Eastern province give butter, basis firsts at 31½c.

There is some speculative demand at the present time, and also a little demand from the coast. The States market had firmed up considerably the first of the week but was reported weaker on Wednesday. There is very little being exported out of the province at the present time.

Cheese.

The cheese market is firmer and latest Eastern boards quote 18c f.o.b. shipping point. This is an advance of 1½c over last week's quotation. United States dealers cleaned up the market the latter part of last week and this has apparently had some effect on the exportation to England. There is every indication that the June make will be firm with a ready demand.

Now that butterfat prices are getting up more in line, the cheese factories are manufacturing again. During the height of the cream war here, there was no possibility of the cheese factories getting the milk, and so manufacture fell off badly for a time and there was not enough available to supply the local demand.

Police Court

Thursday's docket in the police court was a full one. William Cullen, charged with indecent assault was sentenced to four months in Fort Saskatchewan. Wilfred Peters, for a breach of a city bylaw was fined two dollars and costs and for failure to return to the scene of a motor accident Angus McRae was fined $5 and costs.

For neglecting to procure a dog license, John Cartwright was assessed the court of the court. Two adjournments were ordered. That of Walter H. [illegible], charged with uttering threats of injury to his wife, and Edward. H. Hickman charged with the illegal possession of liquor.

In Magistrate Murphy's court, Bertha Moderhauer was given three months' imprisonment for vagrancy, Mrs. Mary Casey receiving a sentence of four months for the same offense. Mrs. Eva David and Mrs. Sarah McBurney, convicted on the charges of the illegal sale of liquor were each fined $200 and costs.

PLAN STREET CARNIVAL

The Gyro club have requested the city commissioners for permission to use the streets in front of the Y.M.C.A. for three days starting September 3, for purpose of holding a carnival of similar nature to that held by this organization last year. The commissioners have granted the request of the Gyro club providing that the permission of the property holders on these streets is secured.

HAD BAD PAINS IN HER HEART

Nerves Were Very Bad

Mrs. John Case, R.R. No. 4, St. Catharines, Ont., writes: "I wish to say that I have been bothered very much with my heart and nerves. I doctored with two different doctors, but did not find much relief. I would have such bad pains in my heart, at times, I would be almost afraid to move or breathe, and at night I could not sleep. If the pains in my heart were gone, my nerves would be so bad I could not lie still and would only get a little sleep by being tired out. My stomach was also very bad and I could eat but very little, and then only certain things or I would have so much distress which always made my heart worse.

"I had been suffering for nearly two years until one day I was talking to our druggist about the way I felt. He advised me to give Milburn's Heart and Nerve Pills a fair trial. I have now taken five boxes and am feeling so much better I am able to do my own work, and can eat anything I wish. I cannot praise too highly."

Milburn's Heart and Nerve Pills

District News

NESTLOW

The Bulletin News Service

The contractor of Allbush school reports the building to be completed this week.

Mr. and Mrs. A. Bollington of Montreal are visiting T. H. Wyatt and family.

Mrs. F. Arnold of Montreal, is a visitor at her daugher's Mrs. F. A. Dapp.

W. F. Barlow has left Nestow for Port Arthur, where it is understood he is going to work.

H. Dapp had the misfortune to lose his house, and its contents last week by fire.

Owing to the good rains received recently, the price of farms has gone up considerably.

Crops are reported to be coming on fine, but owing to scarcity of seed grain there will be quite a number of acres not cropped this year.

Quite a lot of building is under way. Two schools, a hall, several new houses and barns, and it is understood that a church will be built in the near future.

The main road between Nestow station and Clyde has been well travelled this spring, but still needs some more work on it, and as this road is a great necessity, it is hoped the Councillors will see that it is soon put in shape.

E. C. Wyatt, and Mrs. M. McLeod are putting up a building at Nestow.

Nestow, June 4th.

SUPERBA

The Bulletin News Service

The district was given a number of refreshing rains the past fortnight, including an extra good soaker on the first instant, that aids greatly in making the countryside quite green and gives great encouragement to those having a good harvest in prospect.

A couple of loons and numerous other birds were seen hoovering about Superba lake the past week, enjoying friendship with the many wild ducks and their numerous offspring now floating on this large sheet of water.

Must have been a mistake to go to the trouble of erecting a fine building for school purposes, and then close up the same for the sake of a few extra dollars in taxes. Why not consider such a matter more thoroughly before going to so much expense?

A new house or two are underway and now that seeding operations are over, it may be that a number of other buildings will spring up to help deck the handsome rolling plains hereabouts. The absence of a few well-equipped structures has a tendency for some people to vacate their buildings when cold weather comes to hand for a few months annually. Less grain and more stock seems a more definite stronghold to the gain of the trady farmer, and more inspiring to greater ease in living accommodation.—Superba, June 4th.

JEFFREY

While Rosie and Katie Lynch were ploughing, the horses became entangled and frightened. The girls were quite badly bruised an scratched. Rosie's collar bone was broken Katie's arm also badly broken. Dr. Miller of Westlock was called. The girls are recovering nicely.

The Parrent families visited the Trottier family in Edmonton. Mr Trittier has been quite ill, but is reported to be improving. Grandma Parrent remained with her daughter Mrs. Trottier.

Mr. Reynolds of Clyde, assisted by Emett Gosche are repairing the teacher's residence also the school.

Mrs. G. L. MacLachlin and little daughter, Irene of Edmonton arrived Friday.

Special school meeting was held Saturday. Mr. Ferrybough was elected by acclamation.

Jeffry, June 4th.

FROG LAKE

The weather this past week has been ideal. There has beer three or four heavy showers of rain which greatly improved the crops, grass, gardens, etc. Wheat is covering the ground, oats and barley are up nicely. Gardens are later than usual but are coming on fast. A large acreage has been sown to wheat this year, and the residents are hoping to see the railway completed in time to handle the crops this fall.

The Frog Lake school board is rather in need of repairs. Mr Purdy (one director) left three weeks ago for Montana, while Mr. Nickles, (another director) has charge of the Heinsburg ferry, and so cannot attend to the school affairs. This leaves only one director, Mr. Gardner who is also secretary-treasurer. This state of affairs should be remedied at once and a rate-payers meeting should be called and trustees appointed to take the place of those who are absent. So far no steps have been taken in the matter

This district is being visited by a new agent for the Rawliegh Co. in the person of Mr. Tremblay of St. Paul De Metis. Mr. Tremblay has discarded his horses in favor of a car which he says is much better for the summer season. He reports splendid crop conditions between here and St. Paul.

There has been quite an increase in the amount of cream shipped this past week owing to the better pasturage for cattle.

H. Bowsill is the owner of a freak calf, which is attracting much attention. This calf was born without a tail and about two inches of the back-bone is also absent. The calf is about six weeks old and appears to be in good health and doing well.—Frog Lake, June 4th.

CHINESE MOVE ASSOCIATION TO NEW QUARTERS

On the 1st of June the Chinese Christian Association removed their quarters from 10570, 100 th street to 9633, 103rd Avenue and to celebrate the opening of their new home, entertained their teachers and several ministers, attending the methodist conference at a banquet in Grace Methodist Church on Tuesday evening.

About 125 persons sat down at the tables and the banquet which was one of the best and most sumptuous yet given was served by the Chinese in their usual happy and good style.

Mr Charlie Fern was chairman for the evening. Solos by Miss Crowther and Miss Armitage were greatly enjoyed by those present as were also the speeches by Revs. McNeven, Dalgliesh, Youngmans and Gilbart and Messrs Charlie Fern and Mah Kang Hong.

Rev. Mr. Youngmans spoke of his experiences in coming into Alberta in 1880, and Rev. Mr. McNniven told of the beginning of the work for the Chinese in Grace Methodist Church.

Everyone left the church feeling they had spent a very enjoyable evening and appreciating more and more the kind and generous spirit of their Chinese friends.

ELK ISLAND PLANS AT LAND OFFICE

Plans and specifications for the construction of a 24-mile fence around the Elk Island game park, have been received by Alex Norquay, head of the Edmonton land office. Those interested may have acess to these at the office mentioned or particulars will be forwarded by the superintendent of the park at Lamont. The fencing and gates are being supplied by the government, the contract calling for the supply of wooden posts and the erection of the fence.

France recognized the independence of the United States on January 16, 1778.
